Have You Heard This One?

During a visit to London, Mark Twain was guest of a banquet of English scholars. The conversation drifted to a discussion of the Bacon-Shakespeare controversy. Finally a Baconite turned to Mark Twain and begged him to commit himself. "I'll wait until I get to heaven and ask Shakespeare who wrote his plays," the American humorist answered. "I don't think Mr. Clemens, that you will find Shakespeare in heaven," replied the Baconite. "Then," said Clemens, turning the full beam of his genial charm upon the man who knew so much about the future population of heaven and hell, "you ask him!"

While in New York, actor Monty Woolley spent a week end at a downtown hotel. When he was ready to leave, he went into the hotel manager's office, bearing a huge bouquet of flowers.

"These are for the switchboard operators," he announced.

The manager winked slyly.

"What a compliment," he murmured. "You are a great flatterer, Mr. Woolley."

Woolley's beard bristled as he eyed the man with a look of loathing.

"Don't be a fool," he growled. "I thought they were all dead!"

A man went into a drug store and forgot the name of the medicine he was sent for.

"What does it sound like?" asked the druggist.

"It sounds like a large city."

"Well, let's see," mused the druggist, "London — Chicago — San Francisco — Liverpool —"

"That's it! That's it!" said the man, brightening up. "Carter's Little Liverpools!"

When Coolidge was Governor of Massachusetts he was once host to a visiting Englishman of some prominence. The latter took a British coin from his pocket, saying, "My great-great-grandfather was made a Lord by the king whose picture you see on this shilling."

Coolidge then produced a nickel, saying, "My great-great-grandfather was made an angel by the Indian whose picture you see on this coin."

While standing in the lobby of the theater, the pretty young thing noticed that a certain young man kept coming back to the box office to buy another ticket after getting one a few minutes before. He did this a number of times before she finally stopped him.

"Look," she said, "It's none of my business, but I hate to see you wasting your money like that. All you need is one ticket."

"I know," cried the boy piteously, "but can I help it if that jerk over there at the door keeps tearing them up?"

Milton Berle said he got up at the crack of dawn, then stuffed up the crack and went back to bed.

A general, visiting London to attend the discussions of an impending Second Front, was invited to an official banquet and, somewhat to his embarrassment, found himself seated next to a Chinese citizen for the first time in his life. He did not know, of course, that the Chinese citizen was Dr. Koo, a graduate of Columbia University and Oxford. The general devoted himself to the party on his left but, after a little while, felt that propriety demanded making at least one comment to Dr. Koo. As the waiters were removing the soup dishes, the general asked him a question. "Likee soupee?" Dr. Koo was surprised, of course, but took it in his stride. He said nothing whatever, but nodded his head vigorously and smiled. The general now felt that he had taken care of the necessary amenities and didn't say another word to the doctor for the remainder of the dinner.

While liqueurs were being passed, Dr. Koo was called upon for a speech. He rose and spoke brilliantly for fully ten minutes, while the general fidgeted more and more uncomfortably in his seat. As he sat down, Dr. Koo turned to the general. "Likee speechee?" he inquired sweetly.

"How did the wedding come off?"

"Fine" — until the minister asked the bride if she would obey her husband."

"What happened then?"

She said, "Do you think I'm crazy?" and the groom, who was in sort of a daze replied, "I do."

THE LIGHTER SIDE

A youth from the slums attained fame as a prize fighter. With prosperity and prominence, he became arrogant. One day he openly snubbed a companion of earlier days. The snubbed one presently sent an emissary to reproach him for his snobbishness.

"Jim says you ought to be ashamed of yourself for throwing him down when you two used to be such good friends," stated the peace maker. "He says he's done you a whole lot of favors in the past."

"Aw, tell him to forget it!" growled the pug. "Dat guy never done nothin' for nobody . . . 'Whut did he ever do for me?'"

"Well, all I know is he told me to ask you if you'd forgot that hotel episode in Toledo when you were together during the Willard-Dempsey fight?"

"He's a liar," said the pugilist. "To begin with, there ain't no Hotel Episode in Toledo!"

★ ★ ★

Groucho was lunching with Arthur Murray. When the check came, they both grabbed, and Groucho won.

"Either you're losing your grip," quipped Groucho, "or I don't know my own strength!"

★ ★ ★

A fisherman was telling about a fishing experience: "It was a beautiful fish. I just got it up to the side of the boat and it got away on me. It weighed four pounds, three-and-three-quarter ounces," he stated.

"But, man, if you didn't land the fish how the devil do you know what it weighed?" asked the indignant listener.

"Well, the fish had scales on its back," answered the fisherman.

A preacher, returning home from church, picked up in his car four young women who had been at church and lived out his way. They met a man going home from a fishing trip, which was his Sunday habit. The preacher stopped. "I see you have been fishing, Alex," he said. "Yes," was the reply.

"Alex, you know, I'm a fisherman, too, I'm a fisher of men," the preacher continued.

"Well, said Alex, after gazing at the young women in the car, "You sure know the right way to get at it. That is mighty tempting bait you are hauling."

It was the late President Theodore Roosevelt's first oration at college. He had memorized his part which began "When Greece her haughty knee did bend," but memory failed him when his turn came. He started, "When Greece, her knee did bend," and stopped; repeated and stopped. After a third attempt, he later said, an old college professor sitting alongside him piped up in a squeaky voice, "Grease her again, Theodore. I think she'll go this time."

The angler had just landed a fish when the inquisitive woman chanced to be passing.

"Oh," she exclaimed; "that poor little fish!"

The angler replied, "Well, madam, if he'd kept his mouth shut he would not have got into trouble."

★ ★ ★

At the turn of the century, Europeans flocked by the thousands to Northern Minnesota. Mining and lumber companies particularly encouraged Finns. For recreation every company town and village had its baseball team, and on Sunday afternoons the team from one town would go to the next town to play. Most of the population followed. Rivalry was intense. Our town was very proud of its team. One Sunday we were scheduled to play a neighboring town that had a tough team. The members of the team sometimes varied from week to week. Umpires occasionally survived one game. This particular Sunday we were looking for new material. A husky Finn in town named Paavo Niemi was known the range over for his fearless courage and sheer brute strength. He could carry the heaviest piece of timber without apparent effort, and he could heave a heavy boulder clear out of sight. Now if only he knew something about baseball, we would be sure to win. There was only one other little handicap. Paavo knew almost no English. But the team took him along anyway.

As anticipated; there came a crucial point in the game. We were down, 3—0, at bat, with three men on base. The manager put Paavo in to pinch hit, telling him to hit that ball as hard as he could. The ball was pitched; Paavo connected and hit it out of the field, over the road into the tall timber beyond.

LET ME GIVE YOU A NEW HE-MAN BODY!

Charles Atlas

Awarded the title of "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man" in an international contest.

My Secret Method Has Worked for Thousands No Matter How Skinny or Flobby They Were—Now, Why Not Let It Work For You?

HERE'S WHAT I'LL PROVE 15 MINUTES A DAY CAN DO FOR YOU

I DON'T CARE how old or young you are, or how ashamed of your present physical condition you may be. If you can simply raise your arm and flex it I can add SOLID MUSCLE to your biceps—yes, on each arm—in double quick time! Only 15 minutes a day—right in your own home—is all the time I ask of you! And there's no cost if I fail.

I can broaden your shoulders, strengthen your back, develop your whole muscular system INSIDE and OUTSIDE! I can add inches to your chest, give you a vise-like grip, make those legs of yours lithe and powerful.

I can shoot new strength into your old backbone, exercise those inner organs, help you cram your body so full of pep, vigor and red-blooded vitality that you won't feel there's even "standing room" left for weakness and that lazy feeling! Before I get through with you I'll have your whole frame "measured" to a nice, new beautiful suit of muscles!

WHAT'S MY SECRET?

"DYNAMIC TENSION!" That's the ticket! The identical natural method that I myself developed to change my body from the scrawny skinny chested weakling I was at 17 to my present superman physique! Thousands of other fellows are becoming marvelous physical specimens—my way. I give you no gadgets or contraptions to fool with. When you have learned to develop your strength through "Dynamic Tension" you can laugh at artificial muscle-makers. You simply utilize the DOR-
